Our Social Responsibilities

OUR GREEN COMMITMENT

Environmental responsibility isn't just something we do half-heartedly. We see protecting our air, water, and soil as one of our responsibilities, both as citizens and business owners. That's why we wrote a Green Commitment into our mission statement when we opened our business back in 1995. This is also why we incorporate these specific practices in our work every single day and why we are always looking for ways to do more.

REUSE/REPROCESS AUTOMOTIVE PARTS AND SUPPLIES

Refrigerant: Is recovered during every air conditioning repair, cleaned & returned to the car when the repair is done. Auto Parts: Many "hard" parts (ie: engines, starters, alternators, clutches & transmissions) can be sent back to a manufacturer/specialist to be rebuilt or remanufactured. We return all old car batteries to the supplier; they're melted down and remanufactured into brand new batteries.

ECO-FRIENDLY PARTS & SERVICES

Lead-Free Wheel Weights "Green" Parts: We thoroughly research & only recommend green parts that deliver the promised savings—and that won't damage your vehicle! Paperless communication: We use a digital system for processing customer information, work orders, inspections & internal communication. We email invoices (saving an estimated 20,000 sheets of).

HOW TO DISPOSE OF ENGINE OIL SAFELY AND LEGALLY

Businesses must adhere to the Control of Pollution (Oil Storage) (England) Regulations 2001 when managing waste engine oil. These regulations mandate proper storage and disposal practices to prevent environmental damage. Failure to comply can result in fines and enforcement actions by the Environment Agency. It is crucial for businesses to follow these guidelines to mitigate pollution risks and maintain legal compliance in handling hazardous substances like engine oil.
